

Croatia in Brief

Often described as one of the most beautiful gardens of Europe, Croatia, being both a Central European and Mediterranean country, has much to offer the discerning business traveller. Many of the hotels have been reconstructed within recent years and dispose of well-equipped conference facilities. Historical venues, now restored to their original condition, are available for exclusive use to give business gatherings and meetings that extra special touch.

With its eight national parks, ten nature parks, 1,800km of richly indented Adriatic coastline, not to mention the 1,185 islands (67 of which are inhabited), islets and reefs, Croatia boasts an exceptionally diverse landscape. Mixing business with pleasure takes on a new dimension in Croatia. There is literally something for everyone. The more energetic traveller can pursue activities such as rock-climbing, hiking, horse-riding, wind-surfing, parascending and diving, to name just a few of the wide range of sports available. Those who prefer a more leisurely pace will enjoy strolling around the various fishing villages or the historic streets of Zagreb or Dubrovnik. Dubrovnik, on the UNESCO list of world heritage, is a must for travellers to Croatia. It is an exceptional city steeped in history and a highly regarded congress destination.

A variety of teambuilding exercises, company activities and entertainment can be organized such as lighting gas lamps by hand in Zagreb to build team spirit, sightseeing in the form of treasure hunts and musical soirees in the elegant homes of Zagrebian families who, on request, prepare classical concerts in the spirit of the 19th century for your enjoyment.

Fact File

Government: parliamentary democracy

Capital: Zagreb

Population: approx. 4.4 million

Area: 56,542km²

Official language: Croatian

Time zone: Central European Time

Telephone: Dial the int. code plus 385 for Croatia.

Electricity: 220 V (A/C), 50 Hz

Currency: 1 kuna = 100 lipa

Entry requirements: Valid passport or internationally recognized identification document. Visas not normally required but latest regulations should be checked.

Croatian coastline

©CNTB

Travel Information

International airports in Zagreb, Dubrovnik, Split and Pula with regular flights from major European airports.

Worldmeetings Service Centre

MICE AG (Worldmeetings)

Friedrichstrasse 76
10117 Berlin
Germany
T: +49 30 206259-00
F: +49 30 206259-400
E-mail: info@mice.ag
Internet: www.hr.worldmeetings.com

More Information

Croatian Convention and Incentive Bureau

Croatian National Tourist Board
Iblerov trg 10/IV
10000 Zagreb
Croatia
T: +385 1 4699333
F: +385 1 4557827
E-mail: info@htz.hr
Internet: www.croatia.hr

Dubrovnik

©CNTB

